From Pop Out : Oxford PopOut Map (PopOut Maps) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Oxford PopOut Map (PopOut Maps):

An easy to read map nicely showing all the prime tourist highlights, view points, parks, etc. Its very legible considering how much needs to be crammed into a small space. The outer cover is fairly durable laminated cardstock that will slip into a pocket easily. As some have noted the map that pops out is a bit delicate and wont take rough handling. Id give it a 5 star review except for the fact that the scale is presented as a ratio (1:11,000) rather than a linear scale in miles or kilometers. Not very handy when youre trying to figure out walking distances. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. It's small By Art It's small but unfolds automatically in a second and has the "popular places" marked. These names and graphics obscure some of the street details so you might need another map to find some lesser known places like Oxford Fish Shop (if you go to Oxford don't miss that, it's on Iffley Rd). As a guide, by googling Weston library to New Theatre, I estimate the scale of the map is 7.5 inches = 1 mile or about 25 mins walking. 7.5 inches is about the height of the map, it's also about 7.5 inches wide if you count from the Oxford rail station to Addison's Walk. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five Stars By Kim McClure This little map was well used over in England.

Experience the elegant university city of Oxford (UK) with the help of this genuinely pocket-sized, pop-up map. Small in size yet big on detail, this compact, dependable, city map of Oxford will ensure you don't miss a thing.

About the Author Having spotted a need to cure what he calls 'Map Stress Syndrome' after watching numerous tourists around the City of Bath, England, battling with oversized maps, founder Derek Dacey recalled the invaluable miniature charts he used during his days as a commercial pilot. Aiming to bring this level of usability to the city map market, a small team of designers was recruited to realise what would soon become the PopOut. 1993 saw the release of the first ever PopOut Map Bath, which was sold in the gift and souvenir trade across the city. Hot on the heels of this initial success, a research trip to the USA culminated in a redesigned layout, combining strong photo images, high quality printing and laminated covers standards which are still adhered to today. That research trip also saw the birth of the first US destinations covered in the PopOut range Boston, NYC, Philadelphia and Washington DC. Launched in the new style in the US they enjoyed instant success in the gift and souvenir trade.
