They were excited to see us this summer, but now they can't wait to visit! The personal touch to this book is great too....it's not just a typical travel guide!!3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. wonderful book for kidsBy kim bongarThis is a fun read for anyone taking their kids to Hollywood - even more so if they have twins! We loved reading it!!0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Paris in LA? Two awesome cities, one awesome book By UncleWill Picking up after Paris goes to Lake Tahoe, Paris Goes to Los Angeles has all the fun of the previous installment in a brand new place. Slightly more glamorous than Paris Goes to Lake Tahoe, Paris Goes to Los Angeles is going to make any kid want to go to the city of angels. From its description (and illustration) of the beaches, palm trees and the one and only Hollywood walk of fame it captures LA perfectly in the eyes of a child. I absolutely recommend this book to any young reader and their family.

In the sixth book of the My Friend Paris series and her third travel related book, Paris and her twin sisters Liberty and Victoria explore Southern California while attending a family event with her cousins. Their adventures include visiting the Santa Monica Pier, San Diego, Hollywood, and Hearst Castle among many more. This book is perfect for young readers who enjoy traveling or who want to learn about the best spots in Southern California.

About the Author Jenna Conwisar collaborates with her cousin, Paris Morris, in this 6th book in the My Friend Paris series. Jenna is 15 years old and lives in Calabasas, CA where she attends High School and enjoys playing softball, managing the JV football team, hanging out with her friends and her 14 year old sister Sarah.
