Outfitted with his trusty left-handed set of Ping irons and tailor-made woods, Leon Wentz sets out on a trek to conquer the best 100 courses in the world as selected by Golf Magazine.

About the Author Leon Wentz, principle of Wentz Group, a construction and engineering firm headquartered in northern California, wrote this unique travelogue memoir to record the many experiences of his globe-trotting quest. He ended up playing 111 courses--losing this near dozen from list changes. "I had to go back to New Zealand to play one that came up on the last list (2003)," said Wentz. "I wanted to play the current list, not an old list." The 69-year-old golfer, who carries a 7 handicap, shot his best round at Quaker Ridge, a 74, and recorded his highest score at Pine Valley, a 90.
