The subways are a little confusing and although this map didn't answer all of our questions, it certainly helped get us off in the right direction. Also came in handy for the buses. We bought the 7 day unlimited Metro pass and this map helped us get our money's worth -- only took 2 cabs! Also, it held up being folded and unfolded and put in pockets and wallets and bags. Looks basically new! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. so helpful By Music and Literature Garden I visit NYC about twice a year and I always use the subway to get around. I am rather directionally-challenged and have trouble keeping the various subway lines straight in my memory, and good luck getting a free map from the MTA. (It's possible but they are hard to find, and they fall apart really fast if you do get one.) Sure, you can use your smart phone to get this info, too, but I find this so much easier than all the scrolling and wasting my battery life. The bus lines are on the map, too, and although I would probably never take the bus, it can't hurt to have the info available. This map is awesome because it's small enough that I can leave it in my change purse all the time, but large enough that it's easy to read. It's laminated so it doesn't get crumpled up after a lot of use and you can wipe it clean if it succumbs to the filth of the big city. The only thing that would make it better is if it included Brooklyn, or at least the parts of Brooklyn that are closest to Manhattan. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. You want this for NYC By Shirley S. Mitchell This is one handy map for the NYC traveler. Subways on one side, bus routes on the other. (Manhattan only) I traveled from upper manhattan to lower manhattan using it. It was my constant companion for 5 days in NYC. Folds to wallet size. Some kind of rain-proof, tear proof coating. Do buy the 7 day pass for bus and metro (It did include LaGuardia, Brooklyn). It was $32 October 2015. The locals can tell you "what to do." Even with the pass, for some buses you need to print out a ticket (free). Ask a local.
