My map box (converted ammo box) has always had all of the National Forest maps for my home state of Colorado, plus some of Wyoming and New Mexico. Now it's really filling up with these AWESOME water-resistant, tear-resistant, very detailed maps. I'm over 60 and frequently hike alone into fairly remote places, but not without one of THESE MAPS a compass, GPS batteries, UDAP bear spray, and an ACR Personal Locator Beacon. The maps are what I really use, both to find my way in and out, and to ensure that I'm fishing on public -- not private -- property. Can't live without 'em.

Of course, THIS particular Nat Geographic map included the best off road motorcycle area in the USA! Put this together with the book "4WD Trails of SW Colorado" and you are ready to go. (The Benchmark Road and Recreation Atlas for Colorado is good too.)
