A friend recommended this book to me and boy was I in for it! I learned so much valuable information that it could have honestly saved me a significant amount of money in my past travels. This book has opened my eyes to other means of traveling smarter which never even crossed my mind or I didn't know. A lot of useful websites included as well! Just a heads up there's a few typos throughout the book but if you look past that I think you'll find the information and the approach the Author provided very useful! Thank you Justin!

I consider myself a fairly experienced traveler but took quite a bit away from this book. Highly recommended if you are just starting to travel. The typos and grammatical errors are quite distracting.

From the Publisher "Justin is the Jason Bourne of travel experts. Using the techniques in Art of World Travel, my wife, and I just booked our first yearlong trip around the world, in business class -- and only had to pay a few hundred dollars in taxes. If you want to see the world like a multimillionaire for next to nothing, this book is your new bible! Scott Dinsmore, Ted Speaker and founder of LiveYourLegend.net, a global movement of 100k people committed to doing work they love. I may have 140 countries under my belt, but Justin's travel hacking skills just blew my mind. Johnny Ward Serial Vagabond, Entrepreneur and Writer at Onestep4ward.com, "Lots of people talk about their dreams while few people go out and actually live them. This book helps give you the tools to get out there and start exploring." Colby Brown CEO of The Giving Lens, World Renown Photographer
About the Author Justin Troupe started his travel adventures at 18 when he took off for the Caribbean with $300 in his pocket. Since then, hes traveled to 40 countries and built a location-independent lifestyle as an airfare broker, photographer and travel consultant. Using travel hacks and strategies, he now finds amazing deals on luxury accommodations and has racked up $40,000 in free airfare. He now writes about traveling for less at theendlessweekend.com.
