I've tried Rosetta Stone and the Pimsleur Method. I LOVE this method because you can learn to pronounce the words with the correct accent without the computer. The phonetic pronunciation is included with each word and phrase. I do use the computer periodically so that I can check my pronunciation. But, that is not necessary. I'm just a bit of a perfectionist when it comes to learning the Spanish language.I practice with a friend everyday. We learn the words and the questions. Then we ask each other the questions in Spanish...prompting us to remember the names of objects and phrases. On Saturdays, we write down the questions and answers, then quiz each other on that week's material. Then on Sundays, we begin the next chapter. It's really a lot of fun. There are 38 lecciones that have A LOT of Spanish for you to learn. I don't know if I'll be a fluent Castilian Spanish speaker when I reach the end of Leccion 38. But, I do know that I will be speaking A WHOLE LOT of Castilian Spanish. Most of you may know that Castilian Spanish is the Spanish spoken in Spain. That is my preferred dialect.I am VERY happy with my purchase.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. I'd rather learn to speak Central, South, or North American Spanish, but hey, this is okBy Lo KIIIs it out of date? Is it teaching me to talk like a Spaniard rather than like a Mexican? Yes and yes, but it still helps to learn basics. Natural enough of a method. All lessons are in context. Bare-bones grammar and vocab for cheap.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. missing or faded letters is not cool.By Kathleen DicksonApparently the printer of this book needs to be a little more generous with the ink.
